WE NOMINATE

Theodore Cuyler Young, lifelong student and analyst of Near Eastern affairs and a leader in marshalling educational resources on a year-round basis for the development of proficiency in "critical" Near Eastern languages. This week, with the Israeli-Arab crisis dominating the nation's headlines and newscasts, some 140 students—including 15 who had originally planned to study in Cairo this sumer—gathered on the University Campus for an intensive eight-week program directed by the 66-year old Young and offering Arabic, Persian and Turkish on both the elementary and intermediate levels.

Over the past decade Young and his associates on what is known as the Inter-University Comittee on Summer Sessions in Middle Eastern Languages, a group Young organized and continues to chair, have been concerned with blotting out deficiencies in areas in which scholarship in this country is lagging dangerously. For instance, one authority estimates that for every three specialists in Hebrew there is a lone Arabic scholar and probably this ratio could be extended to "four or five to one." It is for this reason that the Princeton program, and others at the Universities of Utah and Michigan, are of front-rank importance.

While Young's field of concentration encompasses the entire Near East, he is particularly interested in Iran. Not only has he devoted much of his life to the study of Persian history and literature, he has also come to know its people and customs as a missionary and as a government official stationed in Tehran. In the two years immediately preceding his appointment to the Princeton Faculty in 1947, he was First Public Affairs officer of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran to which he was to return in 1951 to work on special aspects of U.S.-Iranian relations.

Chairman of the University's Department of Oriental Studies since 1954, the Pennsylvania-born Young was graduated from the College of Wooster (Ohio) with the Class of 1922, carrying off special honors in philsophy and debating. He continued his studies in Princeton and in 1925 was awarded his Master's degree by the University as well as the degree of Bachelor of Theology by the Theological Seminary. From 1927 until 1935, when he returned to teach in the University of Chicago's Oriental Institute and, subsequently, at the University of Toronto (Canada), he made his home in Iran and served under the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

Young, one of the handful of American scholars ever to be named a knight of the Holy Sepulchere, served for some six years as chairman of the Joint Committee on Near and Middle East Studies of the American Council of Learned Societies and the Social Science Research Council. A charter member of the Board of Advisory Editors of the "Middle East Journal," he has been president of the American Friends of the Orthodox Patriarchate of Jerusalem and a Director of the Middle East Institute, Washington. In the early 1950's he was a prime mover in the 12-day Princeton colloquium on "Islamic Culture in Its Relation to the Contemporary World," the first conference of its kind ever called in the United States.

For stressing that understanding of the history and civilization of the Near East is an integral part of liiberal education in the 20th Century; for helping make the Princeton comunity a leadiing center for the study of the Islamic world; he is TOWN TOPICS nominee as

ENTER SQUIBB? A 213-acre site on the corner of Province Line Road and the Lawrenceville Road (Route 206) has been chosen by E. R. Squibb and Sons for its pharmaceutical division. The choice has caused an uproar in Lawrence Township because the land lies in a rural zone and Lawrence Township proposes to re-zone, not merely this parcel, but all rural land for commercial purposes. The site is about two miles from Educational Testing Service upper left), also in Lawrence. The area at lower right has long been zoned by Lawrence for research and limited industrial activity but apparently Squibb isn't interested in that part of the Township. Details in "This Is Princeton."

This Is PRINCETON

LAWRENCE A-BOILING

Over Zoning Change. Lawrence Township continued to be a divided community this week as residents waited for the Township Committee meeting that would decide whether commercial development should be allowed in two rural zones constituting about half of the Township. This rural area is the part of Lawrence that is next to Princeton Township.

The meeting, which is a public hearing on a zoning ordinance amendment, was scheduled for 8 p.m. this Wednesday in Township Hall. Four "yes" votes from the five Committee members are needed. One of the two Republican members of the Lawrence Committee holds the key to passage or defeat of the amendment.

Lawrence has come to a quick boil in the last two weeks, since the amendment was introduced on June 7. Accusations of political intrigue have been made. Mayor and Committee have been charged with dumping the brand-new (last August) Lawrence Township Master Plan and with "a cynical disregard for the basic tenets of good planning."

Opposed to the rezoning are the North Lawrence Citizens' Association, Inc., with about 200 families who are members; the new citizens for Good Planning, which is township-wide; Educational Testing Service; the Lawrenceville School.

How About Princeton? Princeton is anxiously watching and both Princeton Township Planning Board and Princeton Township Committee planned to be represented at Wednesday's meeting.

Hans K. Sander, chairman of the Planning Board, said on Tuesday that he would speak on the broad question of overall adherence to a Master Plan. The Princeton Township Committee representative, not chosen as of Tuesday, may speak, or may simply record the concern of Princeton Township with such a zoning change.

The Lawrence zoning change is proposed so that E. R. Squibb & Sons can locate its pharmaceutical company division on 213 acres of land at the intersection of Province Line and the Lawrenceville Road (Route 206). This is right across the road — almost — from Princeton. A 145-acre portion of this land is on the new Lawrence Master Plan as a park, and Lawrence already has state Green Acres money for it.

Many Lawrence residents are disturbed because the zoning proposal is not merely a variance, but a major change which would open the door to commercial research and offices throughout the rural zones of Lawrence. Under the present ordinance, only non-profit uses are allowed in these zones (i.e., Educational Testing Service).

Lawrence already has an area of 700 acres straddling the Princeton Pike (Mercer Road) zoned for light industrial use and research. Squibb doesn't want to build in this area, reportedly, because it doesn't fit the Squibb image.

Squibb brought out its big guns Monday night at a meeting in the Lawrence High School attended by about 300 persons.

Richard M. Furland, president of the company, told the gathering that the site on Province Line was the only location in Lawrence that Squibb is interested in.

The Squibb Message. The company has distributed to each house in Lawrence Township a "Message" explaining that Squibb wants to construct "a quiet contemplative, campus-like atmosphere which our creative people would find pleasant and stimulating. We do not wish our employees to be bothered with noise, smoke, odors, traffic jams or any other disturbing elements."

The "Message" states that Squibb plans to build in two phases, the first to end in 1969, including about 300 people; the second, to end in 1972, calling for 575 more, for a total of 875. "Public speculation of several thousand . . . has absolutely no basis in fact," the "Message" said.

According to Mrs. Clifford Lamar, Planning Board member, the first Squibb figures were presented to a special meeting of the Board on May 12 by Charles E. Connell Jr., Lawrence Township Committeeman. These figures showed 2,500-3,000 people in a seven-building complex costing $50,000,000.

On May 18, Squibb representatives E. A. Johnson and Nathaniel Martin, made a presentation to the Planning Board estimating 1,600-2,000 people at the end of ten years.

Mr. Connell has estimated that Squibb would pay $1 million in taxes to the Township, thereby easing the tax burden.

In regard to traffic, Mr. Johnson told the Planning Board that I-95 would help, and he said that many research people keep irregular hours, some arriving late in the morning and leaving late in the evening.

In the "Message," Squibb estimates 240 employee cars in Phase One and 400 more in Phase Two. At the Planning Board meeting Mr. Connell said that inadequate roads would be fixed to accommodate additional traffic.

"Campus" Proposed. Squibb plans "low-contour" buildings without tall smokestacks or neon lights. Parking lots and exteriors would be lit by "low, sheltered, mushroom-type lights." There would be no manufacturing, and "no odors and no noise creating operations."

However, Squibb does feel, in spite of its desire for a campus like atmosphere, that the present zoning requirement of only eight percent lot coverage is too low. Squibb would like 10 percent, and 10 percent is part of the new amendment, for tracts 150 acres and more.

When the amendment was introduced on June 7, the Lawrence Township Committee vote was 3-0, with two abstentions.

"Yes" votes were cast by the three Democrats: Mayor Herman W. Hanssler, Lloyd A. Carver and Mr. Connell. The two other members of Committee, Republicans Edward T. Converse and Daniel W. Williamson, abstained, saying they had learned about the amendment only recently and hadn't been given enough time or information to make a decision.

This has led to charges and rumors of politicking. Mr. Connell, in addition to being a Committeeman and chairman of the Lawrence Township Committee for Economic Development, is also an employee of the state's Bureau of Commerce in the Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

Opponents of the zoning change are curious to know who told Squibb about the Province Line site and who showed it to Squibb representatives. According to one rumor, the president of Squibb has said that a member of the Mercer County Democratic organization showed company representatives the site.

Mr. Connell says he "rode around" Lawrence with Squibb people without knowing who they were. "I was just doing my job," he explains.

He also says that Squibb came to the Lawrence Planning Board in confidence, and he accuses two Planning Board members of violating the confidence and spreading Squibb plans around the community.

He points out that two Republican Committeemen are not members of either the Economic Development Committee or the Planning Board and says they were not officially informed because "things had not reached a point where there was any reason to tell them." He charges that the Republicans probably did know about Squibb because most of Lawrence Township did after what Mr. Connell says was the Planning Board leak.

"No." In the boil-up of the last two weeks, the North Lawrence Citizens' Association, Inc., has obtained the signatures of the legally-required 20 percent of property-owners in the affected rural areas. (North Lawrence president William LaTourette says the petition has more than 40 perecent, all obtained in five days.)

This means that the amendment must have four "yes" votes from Committee in order to pass. If the two Republicans continue to abstain, the measure is defeated. But if only one of them votes "yes" with the three Democrats, the measure will pass.

Besides the North Lawrence group there is a new, township-wide organization called the Citizens for Good Planning. The C.Y.P. statement says the group is "alarmed that three Township Committeemen seem intent upon hastily scrapping the new Master Plan passed last August. In a mere two weeks, the two rural residenaal zones which make up more than one-half the entire Township, would be rezoned to allow commercial office uses."

The group urges retention of "a carefully prepared comprehensive master plan backed up by a zoning ordinance with integrity."

Educational Testing Service, in its statement, says it is by no means clear that the proposed zoning change would lead to an improved tax rate.

ETS' chief objection, however, is that commercial use would "multiply enormously the number of organizations that can enter this area and radically change its rural character."

Combining commercial development with "the best available residential property violates all rules of good planning," says ETS. The statement quotes the Lawrence Master Plan as intending "to foster the continuance of a rural residential character in this portion of the Township."

The Lawrenceville School, whose treasurer, Princetonian Robert McAllen, said he would attend on Wednesday, opposes the zoning change on a question of principle. The school feels that the rezoning is being rushed through in a hurry without time for deliberation.

"Yes." In favor of the proposed zoning change is the Lawrence Committee to Reduce Taxes Through Economic Growth. Its chairman Joseph M. Mahan (former Democratic Mayor of Lawrence), said at Monday night's meeting that his group has the signatures of 1,300 Lawrence residents who want the zoning amendment.

In any case, Lawrence Township's traffic problem of the week was certain to be around Township Hall on Wednesday night.

DRIVER LOSES APPEAL On License Suspension. Edward W. Mowle, Honey Brook Drive, has lost an appeal asking the Apellate Division of the New Jersey Supreme Court to set aside the suspension of his driver's license.

Mr. Mowle contended that the suspension violated his constitutional rights prohibiting more than one trial on the same charge. The suspension had been ordered by the State Motor Vehicle Division after it found him guilty of careless driving.

Mr. Mowle was involved in a fatal accident in November, 1965 in Burlington County, when the car he was driving struck the rear of a truck, killing one of its occupants.

However, the Burlington County grand jury did not indict Mr. Mowle, and he was acquitted of a careless driving charge in a trial before a local magistrate. Mr. Mowle also charged that Miss June Strelecki, state motor vehicle director, had abused her discretion in suspending his license.

The court held that Mr. Mowle was not placed in double jeopardy by being first subjected to criminal prosecution and then to an administrative proceeding. It noted that the penalty "seems high" but that it was not so excessive as to constitute an abuse of discretion.

"YES" TO TERHUNE

Road to Be Extended. The Township's looping "C" road moved forward a bit Monday night when Committee passed the ordinance extending Terhune Road from Mt. Lucas, where it now ends, across an island of land to Route 206.

This ordinance, explained Mayor Carl C. Schafer, is concerned only with pushing Terhune out a few hundred feet. The closing of Valley Road is not involved.

According to the time-table of Township engineer Frank Quinby, construction will begin in late July. The road will probably be completed by September 1.

The extension was protested by Mrs. Stanley J. Jarecki, 89 Terhune, who said she was a newcomer to Princeton and had not been told when she bought her house that Terhune was part of the Loop Road.

She told Committee there was speeding on Terhune now, and she predicted even more speeding, and probably truck traffic as well.

She was joined in her protest by Frank C. Shoemaker, 361 Walnut Lane, who charged the Township with "deceit" in putting Terhune on the map as part of the Loop without telling the public. He said he never would have bought his house if he had known Terhune was part of the Loop Road.

Both Hans K. Sander, chairman of the Township Planning Board, and Henry J. Frank of the Traffic Safety Committee, observed that Terhune as a segment of the Loop Road had been on Township maps since the early '50s.

Agents Have Responsibility. Mr. Sander pointed out that Terhune as "C", had been the subject of public hearings and newspaper stories since 1961. He added that the Planning Board has written to real estate agents lawyers telling them they have a responsibility to inform clients about roads on the Master Plan map.

"Your accusation is most unfair," replied Committeeman Burton Peskin to Mr. Shoemaker. He commented on the number of public hearings held over the years on various aspects of the Master Plan. "We sit here at meeting after meeting when nobody ever comes," he added.

BACK FROM USO TOUR: John Bentley of Lawrenceville will entertain at this Thursday's grand opening of the Catacombs' summer whirl. Youth Associates plans for the re-furbished coffeehouse include skits, plays, art shows and entertainment from 8 to 11:30 p.m. every Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday for and by Princeton young people. A Rider graduate who has played The Village Gate in New York, Bentley is co-manager with Larry Cohen of Jefferson Road, a Beloit senior. The Catacombs is in the basement of Trinity Church. (Ulli Steltzer photo)

No Trucks. Mayor Schafer assured Mrs. Jarecki that Terhune was designed as a residential street and said he did not anticipate truck traffic on it. If trucks do show up, Mayor Schafer said, the Township will put up signs saying that trucks are forbidden.

The speed limit on Terhune has recently been levelled out to a uniform 35 m.p.h. It used to be 50 except for a pair of 25-mile stretches. Committeeman William Wilson asked that Township police check on enforcement of the speed limit.

Sidewalks Tabled. Committee, all set to pass the ordinance for a sidewalk on the east side of Walnut Lane, listened to several residents and decided as a result, to table the ordinance for more study.

The Rev. William J. Beeners, who lives on the east side at 263 Walnut, said it wasn't the assessment he objected to; in fact, he said he'd be willing to pay part of the cost if the sidewalk were laid along the west.

He pointed out that the east side has 11 driveways, the west side none; the east side all the utility poles, the west side none. He sugested that children walking to the John Witherspoon School would be safer on the west side without driveways to cross, than on the east.

Mr. Sander reminded Committee that Walnut is eventually scheduled for sidewalks on both sides, and Dr. Beeners, seconded by Mr. Shoemaker, asked Committee to do the whole thing at once: sidewalks on both sides and curbing on both sides from Guyot Avenue to Terhune.

Committeeman John Wallace, who commended the property-owners for their homework, was interested in the idea that owners on both sides might pay for a sidewalk on only one side.

Attorney Gordon Griffin told him that state law doesn't allow a municipality to assess property that doesn't actually adjoin an improvement. He said the neighbors themselves would have to reach such an agreement.

Drag! Dr. Beeners picked up speed again, and told Committee he had made two citizen arrests himself, and made countless reports to Township police about drag-racing along Walnut. He said he had had "superb" cooperation from police, but not much success in stopping the speeders.

Speed on Birch Avenue may not be as menacing as it seems, reported Administrator Joseph R. Nini. At the request of Birch Avenue property-owners earlier in the month, police made a radar check from 4:40 to 7 p.m. and found that, of 221 cars, only 14 percent violated the 25 m.p.h. speed and none fell within the tolerances allowed by radar.

"It has been our experience over a long period of time that cars seem to be going faster than they really are," Mr. Nini observed.

Also at the request of Birch Avenue residents, the Township Zoning Officer looked into bus storage in the yard of the Suburban Transit garage and found that, since the garage is in a business zone, Suburban can line up buses right against the property line without observing setback or side-yard regulations. Mr. Quinby said the Traffic Safety Committee will report soon on bus-traffic patterns in the Birch area. In regard to junk cars left in the recreation parking lot, Mr. Wilson said a new controlling ordinance might be needed. Some cars have already been towed away.

Asked how a recent Supreme Court decision on inspections might affect enforcement of the housing code, Mr. Griffin said that if an owner denies entry to a health officer, the officer must obtain a warrant.

Mr. Peskin added that the Township will continue to enforce the code, and both he and Mr. Griffin said the Township might have to enact special legislation.

FORD STUDY EXHUMED And Laid to Rest? Taking a deep breath, school board member Robert Lively retraced for the rest of the Princeton Regional School Board on Tuesday night the labyrinthine paths he has traveled in order to find out just what did happen to that Ford study on the John Witherspoon School.

He found out. The study, completed but not written up, is in the California files of the architect, Edward Kump.

He also found out that Graham Rohrer, president of the former Borough Board, was right: Ford money was paid to the Borough Board for the study and not to the architect. In fact, the money — about $7,000 — is still in the Princeton School Board's unexpended balance.

The gist of the report, given verbally in California by Mr. Kump to former Borough superintendent Chester Stroup in the spring of 1966, and verbally over long-distance telephone by Dale Sprankle, architect's representative, to Dr. Lively a few days ago: John Witherspoon is "convertible" (to a junior high) but not "expandable."

The architects felt that there was real possibility for conversion of John Witherspoon to a junior high provided the population remained stable. They believed that such conversion might be eight to ten years away.

The study, with funds from the Ford Foundations Educational Facilities Laboratory, was launched in March, 1963. Money, paid to the Borough Board, was to be used for architectural and educational planning.

Why the delay? It seems to be partly the architect's fault, partly the pre-occupation of school board members and school officials with other things, including the question of merger.

Dr. Lively says that an architect's report which the Board knew nothing about until about this week, was mailed to Mr. Rohrer at his home in June, 1965. That same month, Philip Cobb completed for the board his calculations on possible conversion of the school.

The Cobb report, whose population projections were commended as "excellent" by Dr. Lively (they were only two pupils off in the middle-school estimate, based on June figures), stated that conversion of John Witherspoon would require 12 additional classrooms.

More than six months later, the Cobb report still had not been sent, and in Februray, 1966, the architects wrote to ask for it. A rough draft was mailed in March or April of 1966. Both Dr. Stroup and Mr. Rohrer said in the spring of 1966 that the report would be ready "soon" but of course it never was.

The question is, "What now?" Dr. Lively pointed out that the architect had done the work to show how the school could be converted and must be paid for his work.

Board members agreed that a formal study isn't much use to the Regional Board now. But the $7,000 is Educational Facilities money; does EFL want it to be used for some kind of general academic study?

Board members also agree that $57,000 is the limit and no further: the architect had made noises about "reimbursibles" like travel, printing and the like.

In the end, they directed William Evans, Board secretary, to "make inquiries of the architect and EFL leading to an appropriate resolution of the matter" — with a $7,000 ceiling.

New Programs. Next Tuesday at 8 p.m., the board will hold a public meeting at 8 p.m. at the high school to hear about plans for a Title III project. Broadly, the proposal is concerned with working out techniques that will enable teachers to understand children better.

"It's an exciting concept," Dr. Lively commented. "It's building 'special-services' skills into all teachers . . . making them creative in their relationships with children."

The program proposed two months ago by the Rev. Shelby Rooks to shore up some seventh and eighth graders, is moving ahead. Dr. John J. McKenna, acting superintendent, reported about 30 children and a staff of three teachers registered in the program. He said each teacher works intensively, almost on a tutorial basis, with the children.

The Board also reported that it will contract with the Princeton Study Center to run the Center next year using Title I money and Study Center volunteers and staff. Mrs. Raymond F. Male commended the board for this and for the Rooks program.

Traffic is Bad. The traffic pattern around John Witherspoon and the high school are so pattern-less that the board passed a resolution asking both Borough and Township Traffic Safety Committees to make a survey and some recommendations, perhaps after consultation with a professional expert.

Mrs. George Fremon, board president, reported that the Township Planning Board hasn't yet told the school board how the traffic counts added up during the month that Franklin Avenue was closed. Dr. McKenna suggested that footpaths through the Westminster Choir College campus might be used by children walking to school.

Dr. McKenna announced the resignation of Thomas Seraydarian, assistant principal of the high school, who will become principal of a high school in another community. Other resignations are John Shepard, high school physics teacher; Norman Shapiro, learning disability specialist; Mrs. Patricia Van Ness of Johnson Park, and George Thompson, high school English teacher.

Frank Soda, chairman of the modern language department at the high school, was granted leave without salary to accept a fellowship in France. In his absence, Ronald Gendaszek will serve as acting chairman.

Too Much Water. Nobody knows how much of the flood damage to John Witherspoon School on June 8 will be covered by insurance or what the extent of the damage is: Water rose to four feet in the boiler room after an elbow connection in the four-inch water main in the room broke under pressure from a fire hydrant outside.

Dr. McKenna said the state had given preliminary approval to conversion work at Valley Road, Community Park and John Witherspoon Schools.

Four high school classrooms will be freed next fall when a physics lab, a vocational class and two high school health classes move across the street to John Witherspoon.

George Petrillo was appointed chairman of the guidance department at the high school. Robert Prettyman was named assistant principal of the middle school.

It was the final school board meeting for Dr. McKenna, who has resigned to accept the position of superintendent of schools in Madison.

TURN HERE! Girl Does, Hits Tree. David Scott, 16, 80 Stockton Street, received a laceration of the forehead requiring seven sutures Sunday afternoon when the car in which he was a passenger struck a tree.

With three other teenagers, he was riding in a car driven by Wanda I. Mahaffey, 20, of Quaker Road. Miss Mahaffey told Ptl. John Chasko she was driving on Elm looking for Armour Road when one of her passengers said, "Turn here!"

Thinking that to mean "right at that moment," Miss Mahaffey whipped her car not into Armour but into the driveway of E. R. Metcalf, 52 Elm. Her sports sedan ran off the side of the drive and hit a tree, 12 feet in from Elm. Aside from Scott, no one was injured.

Anne J. Alonso, 21, 270 State Road, was hospitalized Sa ur-

Spring, in shame,
Sneaked out the door.

Any more?

Spring was scheduled to depart Wednesday at 9:23 p.m., taking with her a couple of unwelcome records for rain and low temperatures. On the eve of her exit, she produced as much rain on Monday (better than three inches) as usually falls in the entire month of June.

Summer will warm things up again, with the thermometer scheduled to move into the 80's with daily regularity. Sunday showers are possible, the Man reports, but the forecast is generally fair through the weekend.

Boroogh's M-Day Nears

Moving day for the Borough will come sometime in late July, Mayor Henry S. Patterson told the press this week, and the opening of the new Borough Hall about August 1.

No date has been set for a ceremonial, ribbon-cutting kind of opening, Mayor Patterson said. If such a ceremony is held, it may be after Labor Day, he suggested.

Princeton Theological Seminary, new owner of old Borough Hall, isn't saying yet what may happen to the building. "No decisive plans have been made," a Seminary spokesman said.

day, following a two-car crash at the intersection of Jefferson and Mount Lucas Roads.

The entire right side, windshield and roof of Miss Alonso's Volkswagen were damaged when her car collided with another driven by Mrs. Blanche C. Sly, 74, 18 Campbelton Circle. She was admitted in fair condition to Princeton Hospital with a fractured right wrist and laceration of three fingers. A suspected skull fracture proved to be negative.

Miss Alonso was driving on Jefferson; Mrs. Sly on Mount Lucas. In his report of the 7:20 p.m. accident, Ptl. David Wilbur quoted a witness who was stopped for the opposite stop sign on Mount Lucas. He told Ptl. Wilbur he thought Mrs. Sly passed through the intersection without stopping.

Miss Alonso said that she did not see the Sly car. She added she was unable to remember anything until she realized she was in the hospital.

Another Township intersection accident, this one Friday morning at 8:30 at Nassau Street and Riverside Drive West, ended in minor injurines to both drivers.

Roberta L. Frolich, 25, 150 Spruce Street, suffered a cut on the right knee. She was admitted to Princeton Hospital for observation after complaining of back pains. Her 1966 station wagon had to be towed away.

The second driver, Eleanore J. Hutchinson, 59, of Hightstown, received a bruise on the arm but refused to be taken to Princeton oHspital. She was ticketed by Officer Mario A. Musso for failing to observe a stop sign atthe foot of Riverside Drive.

CO-DECIDERS: With the election of officers for the student board of directors Thursday, Princeton has its first adult-teenage team of leaders planning together for the teens' "places to go."

LIST MINOR THEFTS

In "Quiet Week." It's been a quiet week . . . thank goodness," commented Chief Peter J. McCrohan Tuesday at the conclusion of his weekly press conference.

Two men reported the theft of four, spoke-type hubcaps from their cars. Harold Ostroff, 42 Cuyler Road, said his were stolen while his car was parked Thursday evening in a Palmer Square lot.

John R. Marozsan of Trenton reported losing his hubcaps the same day. His was parked in a Princeton Hospital yard. A set of three spinner type hubcaps, which police say are highly coveted by the young, costs more than $100.

A Witherspoon Street resident reported a sports car cover taken between 10 Sunday evening and two the following morning from his Triumph TR-4 while it was parked on Tulane Street. He placed its value at about $40.

Mrs. Agnes Acuff of Trenton told police that a blue wallet containing $1.50 was stolen Saturday from her car parked on Morven Place. Police said her car doors had been unlocked.

A screw driver was used Saturday to pry open a candy vending machine in the Coin-Wash, 265 Nassau Street, behind Viking Furniture. David Kass, the owner, said the machine had recently been restocked and he was unable to determine how much money was taken.

This week, seven meters on Nassau Street near Moore had their glass sections shattered. There was no attempt to remove the coin boxes, police said; "It was just an act of vandalism."

SEVEN CASES THURSDAY

For Borough Zaniog Board. The Borough Zoning Board of Adjustment will tackle an agenda listing seven cases Thursday evening when it holds its June meeting in the Engineering Building on Green Street.

Leading off will be Westminster Choir College, which needs a special permit and certain variances to construct a new dormitory on campus. The proposed addition, which would have practice rooms in the basement, would be located in the old Franklin Avenue roadbed.

Seeking off-street parking variances will be Woolworth's, 116 Nassau Street, and The Weathervane, 20 Nassau. Woolworth's plans to install a luncheon counter and needs a variance for seven parking spaces.

The Weathervane plans to expand its merchandising facilities by adding more space in the rear of its store. It needs a variance for about a half-dozen spaces, according to Borough Engineer Thomas Cawley. Retail stores must provide parking based on area devoted to retail use.

A repeat applicant will be Princeton Hospital, which in the Board's previous meeting had been granted a special permit and variances to enlarge Merwick, its nursing home. "The Board's approval then was so worded as to be very definite," said Mr. Cawley.

Since then, the hospital has notified the Zoning Board that it wants to go back only 40 feet on one side of the addition instead of the previously shown 49 feet. The upshot: the hospital must apply for a variance for that extra nine feet.

In other cases, Robert Rivers of 23 Green Street will seek a front-yard variance to extend his porch; Chadler Wentworth, 42 Linden Lane, will apply for a side-yard variance to expand his garage; and Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Metcalf, 52 Elm Road, will seek a special permit to erect a fence on their property higher than the Borough's allowable maximum of six feet.

TWO BUILDINGS DAMAGED

By Sunday's Lightning. Sunday's thunderstorm provided welcome relief from the high temperature and humidity, but the accompanying lightning caused a good deal of damage to two building in the Princeton area.

Shortly after 7 p.m., lightning struck the home of Michael Balinski of the Princeton Pike-Lewisville Road in Lawrence Township. The resulting fire engulfed the roof in flames, causing heavy damage.

Roy Devlin, 51, a Lawrenceville Fire Company volunteer, suffered a heart attack while battling the fire, and was taken to Helene Fuld Hospital in Trenton. He is reported in satisfactory condition.

About a half hour earlier, a bolt of lightning ignited a fire at Princeton Chemical Research, a one-story structure on Route 206 near Rocky Hill. Eight volunteer fire companies fought the blaze, but much of the firm's chemical equipment and business records were destroyed by fire and smoke.

SPEEDER FINED $16

In Borough Court. Suzanne A. Walters, 36, 10 Windsor Drive, Princeton Junction, was fined $16 Monday for speeding by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr.

Thomas K. Sharpless Jr., 28, 21 Moran Avenue, paid $10 for having no license in his possession. The original charge was unlicensed driver. Mr. Sharpless pleaded not guilty.

YMCA SETS NEW DATE

DEDICATION HELD

For Witherspoon School. A capacity audience of parents, school board members and friends attended the dedication on Friday of the year-old, $2½ million John Witherspoon Elementary School. Graham Rohrer, former president of the Princeton Board of Educatinn, described the school as "a magnificent teaching facility" in his dedicatory remarks.

The ceremony was followed by graduation exercises for the eighth grade, with Governor Richard B. Hughes, father of two children in Witherspoon School, as the principal speaker.

Mr. Rohrer, introduced by Mrs. George H. Fremon, president of the Princeton Regional Board of Education, served on the Borough board from 1956 to 1966,nine of those years as president. He was a key figure in the planning for the school, which began in 1961. Ernest J. Kump of California and New York City was the architect.

"In 1961," Mr. Rohrer said, "we determined to shoot high — to build not only a good school but a great school." He quoted city planner-builder James Rouse: "We should always examine the optimums and forget about feasibility. It will compromise us soon enough."

"Too often," Mr. Rohrer said, "decisions are made as a result of pre-compromise so that excellence dies aborning. If feasibility had been the guide — as some of you will remember — there would have been no John Witherspoon School today."

He stated that the expediture of substantial amounts of public funds for permanent structures carries with it responsibility in two major areas of concern:

"First, in utility. Not only must the buiding eminently serve the needs of the day but should be so designed that it can accommodate, or at least not preclude, the inevitable changes that our modern, fast-growing society might require several generations hence.

"Secondly, its architectural integrity. The board, which was privileged to develop this structure, was determined and unrelenting in its desire to provide for the Princeton community a structure of lasting beauty — indigenenous to the tradition of our town."

Noting some of the difficulties the board overcame, Mr. Rohrer added, "John Witherspoon is all that we boped for it. It has already been cited by foundations and educational professionals as one of the most significant public schools in the country. And its fame is growing. It was a pattern breaker and an innovation as it should have been in this community."

He concluded, "It is a difficult and challenging task to be involved in public service in a growing and demanding community. It calls for sound and reasoned judgments, intellectual integrity and courage. So, whether as a K-8, or 6-7-8, or even 7th and 8th alone, all of which this building has built in capabilites to accommodate, this school, named after a great patriot and educational pioneer whose achievements are spread across the pages of history, will hopefully serve this community well and become a treasured landmark on the Princeton scene."

PHS '47 to Hold 20th

Flag Day Unobserved.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

On June 14, 1967 — a date which, as we all know, has been set aside in the United States as Flag Day — I took my two young nieces to visit the monument at the Princeton Battlefield on Mercer Road. We were both surprised and disturbed to find that the flagpole at the monument was not displaying a flag.

Many individuals do not own flags, and fewer still own flagpoles, and so it is not difficult to understand why most private homes do not display the flag, even though we should all do so. But it is incomprehensible why an American flag should not fly over the scene of a Revolutionary War encounter on the date of the commemoration of the flag's 190th birthday.

This bare flagpole stood as mute testimony to the neglect of those peple in Princeton or Mercer County who are responsible for overseeing the monument. I trust that it does not stand as testimony that we have all forgotten our heritage as inhabitants of the greatest nation on earth.

Is this little matter too trivial for us to get very excited about?. I certainly think that those who lie in unmarked graves at the Princeton Battlefield would not consider the matter trival at all.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In the name of humanity — and imagination — I plead with your readers to have female cats spayed. And, should your unaltered cat have kittens, I beg you to "put down" at once all but two male cats, if you can tell the sex.

Dozens of thoughtless people keep whole litters until they are adorable pansy face playmates, then beg our wonderful Mrs. Graves to find homes for them.

It just can't be done — people tell us, "Oh, we just can't destroy them." Have they ever rescued, as we have a bag full of trustful little darlings, left on Highway No. 1 to be run over? Heard crying in a sack weighted with stones inside a dead tree?

Dear people, use your brains, and your hearts. The nightmare existing in many of our "Research Laboratories" and medical schools would be eliminated if there were no unwanted and unloved, but lovable, baby animals.

The Small Animal Rescue League will help with the cost of spaying or altering when the owner is not able to pay all. But please, please stop this horror.

Guided Tours Available.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Summer in Princeton always brings free time and many visitors. Fortunately, Princeton's most historical and interesting site, the University, provides an ideal place to spend a free hour or two and entertain out-of-town guests.

The Orange Key Guide Service will be operating throughout the summer, and would like to extend a cordial invitation to eevryone to visit our campus. The student Guides are uniquely qualified to show visitors around the University grounds, recounting the history of the school and the community, describing University facilities and academic programs, and giving the true picture of student views on issues ranging from co-education and admissions policy to grades and student social life. Often guides' anecdote alone make a tour worthwhile — how many Princeton residents know the history of the period when Princeton was the nation's capital in 1783; or the story about the Yale bulldog hidden in the architecture of the Chapel by the architect, a Yalie; or the reason that there is a heavy fence surrounding the Prospect Gardens?

The Guide Service will be offering tours throughout the summer, Monday through Saturday at 9:40 a.m., 11:40 a.m., 1:15 p.m., and 3:20 p.m., and Sunday upon request. All tours are free of charge.

Please take the opportunity to stop by our office in Stanhope Hall, where the tours originate, or better yet, call us at 452-3603 so that we will be expecting you and your guests. We'll be looking forward to meeting you.

10 YEARS A FIREMAN: Reuben F. Johnson, 35 Park Place, is one of 32 Princeton firemen who will be honored Friday for long-time service. A past president of the volunteer firemen who served as Princeton's fire chief in 1941, Mr. Johnson will be cited for 40 years' service. Story, this page.

FIREMEN TO PARADE

This Friday Evening. The annual parade and formal inspection of Princeton's three volunteer fire companies will take place Friday evening beginning at 7.

At that time, members of Company No. 3, Company No. 1 and Hook & Ladder will parade from the Chambers Street firehouse down Nassau to Olden Street, ending at the Engineering Quadrangle. There, at 7:30, Mayor Henry S. Patterson and Township Mayor Carl C. Schaffer will inspect the firemen and their equipment.

There will be three bands in the parade. No. 3 will sponsor a string band; No. 1, the Little Devils from Bordentown; and Hook & Ladder a band from Hamilton Square. At the inspection ceremonies, firemen who have reached 30, 40 and 50 years of service will be honored. Each — 32 in all — will receive an engraved commemorative gift.

Each of the three fire companies enjoys a long and proud tradition of service. Hook & Ladder on Harrison Street was founded in 1788; No. 1 on Chestnut in 1794 and No. 3 in 1847. Each company has 50 members.

Fire Chief Richard H. Wood commented that Friday's ceremonies will give the residents of Princeton a chance to inspect the firemen and their equipment. "We take good care of our equipment and practice to be prepared," Chief Wood said.

I-95 ROUTE UNDER FIRE

From Hopewell Township. The possibility of legal action against the proposed alignment of Interstate Route 95 is being investigated by Hopewell Township.

At a meeting last Tuesday, the Township committee authorized attorney Edward Meredith to aid the Hopewell Valley Interstate Highway Committee, a citizen's advisory group. Mr. Meredith will help determine the best legal course for appealing the route recommended by the state, which was recently forwarded to the federal road department.

The state's proposed alignment enters Hopewell Township near Scudders Falls Road and leaves near the intersection of Province Line Road and Stendens Brook. L. H. Terpening, a member of the citizen's committee, noted that only eight miles of the highway cut through the Township, but when interchanges and right of way are included, at least 600 acres of taxable land are removed from the Township.

No action will be taken until the group has studied the state's recommendation and the federal report. However, immediate action will be taken to join with South Plainfield, Franklin and Piscataway townships — which are also opposing the alignment — to see what joint action can be taken.

TRADE IN YOUR WIFE SALE

PRINCETON STORE ONLY! — NOW THRU SAT., JUNE 24

Yes Sir Dad — that's our gift to you. Here's an unexpected windfall. "Mother" — the best bargain you ever got — is worth some more money. Now, you can trade her in on a new air conditioner, color TV, black and white TV, refrigerator, washer or dryer.

Here's how it works: Bring your wife to our Princeton Shopping Center store. When she steps on the scales, you multiply 5c, 10c, 15c, 20c or 25c by her weight and you deduct that amount from your purchase (according to the scale below). It's just that simple. Just 1 or 2 stipulations — please be fair with us. Your wife must be wearing ordinary street clothes and Dad has to hold her handbag and packages while she is on the scales.

With A Purchase Amounting To:	Your Wife Is Worth
$99.00 to $299.00	5c per pound
299.00 to 399.00	10c per pound

TWEEN-AGERS: The Rev. Dr. William L. Tucker, pastor emeritus of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and minister of outreach for the three Presbyterian churches of Princeton, will conduct the 10:30 a.m. service this Sunday in St. Andrew's. His sermon topic is "Help for the Tween-Agers." The sacrament of baptism will be administered. Nursery care is provided during the service.

News Of The CHURCHES

SUNDAY SCHOOL CHANGES

To Tuesday Picnics. Three Baptist churches in the Princeton community have, after independent study, come up with the same solution to a common problem: poor Sunday school attendance during the summer.

Each church, Calvary Baptist on Walnut Lane, Princeton Baptist at Penns's Neck and Calvary Baptist, Hopewell, will each hold a summer series of communal meals, worship and discussion from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday evenings, cancelling Sunday school until September.

The program at Calvary Baptist, Walnut Lane, will include a picnic supper, singing, Bible study, and a special event each night, beginning with a photo study, "The Ways of Man."

Mrs. H. Theodore Sorg reports this Tuesday on her recent trip to Ethiopia and the Mid East. C. Prince Smith is Bible leader. The picnic supper will include homemade ice cream.

YOU CAN GET copies of TOWN TOPICS free in Lawrenceville, Princeton Junction, Plainsboro, Hightstown, Roosevelt, Kingston, Rocky Hill, Blawenburg, Skillman, Kendall Park, Hopewell, Pennington and Trenton. For the location nearest you, call 924-2200.

"This will cut across the traditional age levels," the Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer said in announcing the project. "It will give an opportunity for all age groups to eat, sing and worship together." The planning committee includes Dee L. Johnson, Mrs. James E. McPherson, and Mrs. Robert F. Westover.

Princeton Baptist Church begins its experiment on the first Tuesday in July. "We all felt that our church school is important enough to be continued during the summer," the Rev. Walter P. Carvin, pastor, commented. "Perhaps this will be a way of strengthening it.

After a picnic at 6:30 p.m., classes will be held from 7:30 to 8:30, concluding with a brief vesper service.

CHURCH SCHOOL TO OPEN

At Westerly Road. The Westerly Road Church vacation bible school opens on Monday under the direction of Mrs. James Harrocks, superintendent, and the Rev. Edward Morgan, pastor. Classes for teens down to age 3 will be held from 9 until 11:30 a.m. through July 7.

Teachers this year will include Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Dreesen, missionaries on leave from Africa, and the general theme is exploring God's word.

The teaching staff and their assignments include Mrs. C. Lacey, pre-schoolers age 3 and 4; Mrs. Gene Nowlin, kindergarten; Mrs. William Schroeder, primary; Mrs. Harry Brohst, middlers; Mrs. E. Jeffries, juniors; Hank Bryant, teens, and William Schroeder, recreation.

Mrs. Richard Summers is transportation chairman. If transportation is needed, arrangements may be made through Mrs. Harrocks, 924-5508, or Mrs. Edward Morgan, 924-4231.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE SET

By Episcopalians. "What is Man Doing NOW?" is the theme of the June 23-25 Princeton Conference at Princeton Seminary, sponsored by the Episcopal dioceses of New Jersey, Newark and New York.

The Rev. Myron B. Bloy Jr., executive director of the Episcopal Church Society for College Work and formerly a chaplain at MIT, will be the keynoter. Professor Arthur G. McGill of the Princeton University department of religion will be the responder.

The Rev. Mr. Bloy will give the following adresses: Friday evening, "The Ironic Shape of Technological Culture;" Saturday "Technological Culture," from a Christian Perspective and on Sunday morning, "The Ministry of Christians in an age of Technology."

The addresses will be followed by a response by Professor McGill, a forum in which the entire conference may engage in dialogue with the Rev. Mr. Bloy, and by small group discussion.

Registration, at $7, may be made from 4 to 6 p.m. this Friday in the lobby of the campus center at the Seminary.

THERE ARE MANY OPPORTUNITIES IN THIS SECTION OF NEW JERSEY. The "acres of diamonds theme" is ironically apropos. A giant barn to remodel, an old school house to fix up, a physician's lay out, and land at prices that will seem like "play money" tomorrow. Just look at the land around you. AN EXCELLENT SMALL FARM INVESTMENT BUY. This farm property consists of 26 acres of delightfully positioned ground on a hill top. There is a little house, garage and an old barn. Good residences are on all sides of the property. You don't need a crystal ball on this one. Just look at it. $35,000. AN OPPORTUNITY FOR THE RIGHT PERSON WHO WANTS TO BE A LANDacre of ground in the center of LORD "FREE", Two houses on an Hopewell. A 5 apartment rental technical laboratory. The owner situation, a small studio and a tiny set up a well though out thing here. $42,000. A NEW 3 BEDROOM HOUSE on 3 acres overlooking a beautiful valley. So peaceful you think it is a hundred miles away, yet is only 11 miles from Nassau Street. $26,500. A GENUINE ONE ROOM MOUNTAIN SCHOOL HOUSE. A relic of early America on 3 acres with trees. A little imagination could make a pretty spot at FORK OF THE ROAD. $7500 1acre up to 150 acres. Come and LAND IN THE AREA. Pieces from talk to us if you are looking for land. RENTALS NEAR HOPEWELL. 3 room apartments partially furnished in a nice house with heat and hot water furnished. $125. A four room apartment in a new house $125. A bachelor's lay out in the country $65. Near Pennington, a completely furnished duplex in a country house all utilities $150. We have a few houses coming up for rent, one within a few days, one on the 1st of July, and another on August 1st. Contact for details. JOHN D. Guide To
Summer Planting

Warm weather doesn't mean the planting season is over. Far from it when you buy well established plants growing in containers. Many interesting varieties to choose from, and since there will be no transplanting shock, you can plant perfectly safely all through the summer. Note — Balled and burlapped plant materials may also be safely planted now.

When Johnny came marching home...

We helped him buy it.

As a matter of fact, since we were established 50 years ago in 1917, we have helped thousands of Johnnies to buy their own homes. That's what it's all about at Princeton Savings. Local people save their dollars and earn the area's top dividends and local people borrow these dollars to buy or improve their homes. It's called "Round Robin Capitalism" and it works for Princeton and for you.

KNOW YOUR POLICEMAN—First of a Series

A rose is a rose is a rose, but you can't say the same about a policeman. There are 51 Borough and Township policemen and they are all different.

About the only similarity is that each, in his own way, strives constantly to do the best job he can.

To better acquaint its readers with the members of the Borough and Township police departments, TOWN TOPICS will present, from time to time, brief sketches of each.

Douglas Watson

Badge Number 6. Doug — no one calls him Douglas — Watson is one of 26 members of the Borough police. He is a patrolman — Badge No. 6 — which means only five other patrolmen have served longer on the force.

As a policeman Watson fits few, if any, of the stereotyped images of a cop. He didn't want to be a policeman "ever since he could remember;" in fact, he joined the force rather late at 32.

He hasn't engaged in any gun battles; in fact, the closest brush with danger he can recall is nearly being run over by a sun-blinded motorist while directing traffic on Nassau Street. He isn't all spit and polish with a brusque, no nonsense manner; he is, in fact, low-keyed, friendly and soft spoken.

And yet, without calling attention to himself, the 43-year-old Watson stands out. He is a pro-conscientious, efficient and well-liked not only by his fellow officers but by everyone who knows him — and this includes a sizeable number of Princetonians.

Talking with him as he directed school children across the busy intersection of Nassau and Harrison last week, it seemed as if every passing truck driver slowed to shout, "Hiya, Dougie!" The easy familiarity of directing children, however, was suddenly interrupted that day by a loud noise, followed by the sound of breaking glass and then the unmistakable crunch of fender against fender.

The brakes of a small truck had given out and it rammed the rear of a station wagon. "Oh, boy!" said Doug. He took a short breath, strode into the intersection and effortlessly took control. Soon after, he was busy directing traffic at another crossing on Nassau, choked with reunion traffic.

Served In The Pacific. Aside from a three-year stint with the U.S. Army in the Pacific and the Philippines, Doug has never left home. He is Princeton-born, Princeton raised and Princeton-educated.

After graduating from the high school, Watson became a fireman on the Pennsylvania Railroad. Then came World War II. He returned to the railroad for two more years before leaving to become a mailman. His rural route which he delivered every day measured 39 miles.

"I really liked that route," he recalled. "Even in the winter. But it was hard on my car and it didn't pay very well.

On June 1, 1956, he joined the Borough police force. Why? "I though it would be very interesting and challenging work. And it's turned out that way. I've met a lot of very interesting people. I never thought I would like a desk job. I like being out of doors and I like meeting people."

Harder to Be a Cop Today. Asked if he thought it was harder to be a policeman today than it was 10 years ago, he replied without hesitating: "Much harder. Much harder!" he repeated.

"It's more of a profession than it used to be. You need more education to be able to keep up with all the new laws, all the new court rulings. Everyone has a lawyer today. A policeman has to be a lot sharper to get a conviction.

Watson lives with his wife, Betty, at 37 Fisher Avenue. They have two children, a son, Douglas Jr., who is attending the University of Tampa where he is a junior majoring in business administration, and a daughter, Cathy, a senior at Princeton High School.

From railroader, to postman, to policeman, Doug has touched one more familiar base — fireman. For the past 17 years he has been a member of the Princeton volunteer fire department. Presently, he is foreman of Hook and Ladder.

"That's the one on Harrison Street," he said in reply to a question. "We like to think it's the only firehouse," he added with a twinkle in his eye. He began to recall the time, many years back, when they were returning from a fire on campus and he was driving the fire truck . . . "The brakes went out right on Nassau Street and . . .

But that's another story about another career of Doug's.

ANOTHER ROUND DUE

On New Post Office. The continuing skirmish over plans to build a new Princeton post office on North Harrison Street was delayed Thursday night with the granting of a postponement to attorney George Pellettieri by the Township Zoning Board.

Mr. Pellettieri, who is representing several residents from the Harrison Street area opposed to the proposal told the Board that one of his expert witnesses is currently in Europe and could not be present to testify.

Garrett M. Heher, representing the Thanet Corporation, owner of the five-acre plot on Harrison Street, consented to the adjournment. Because Mr. Pellettieri, himself, will be in Europe at the time of the next regular meeting, Thursday, July 20, the Board set up a special meeting for Tuesday, August 8 at 7:30 p.m. The earlier starting time was set when Mr. Pellettieri advised the board that the hearing might run four to five hours.

The post office building needs a variance from the minimum lot width requirements, and a recommendation for a use variance. Township Committee has to give final approval on the latter.

In other action, the Board denied, 4-1, a request from Charles F. Egner Jr., president of Tri-State Development Corp., for an off-street parking variance. Tri-State wanted to erect a two-story office building on Route 206 near Cherry Valley Road, but was 22 parking spaces short of the required number.

In rejecting the request, the board stated that Mr. Egner had failed to show any hardship other than economic. Also, the board pointed out, the parking lot was not separated from Route 206 by a buffer zone, creating a potential traffic hazard, and the size of the parking lot left inadequate room for proper landscaping.

This denial marks the second time Mr. Egner has lost a case to the Board concerning this property. Two years ago, he was turned down on a request for a variance in order to build a car wash on the site.

The Board also approved three requests. Mrs. Doris R. Allen was granted a special permit for one year with certain conditions attached to give private piano instruction in her home, 414 Terhune Road. Amos Eno, Quaker Road, was granted rear yard space and height variances, and George S. Grace, Pretty Brook Road, had a variance from the gross floor area limitation approved. He is planning an addition and alterations to his home.

SWISH . . . BOOM . . . AHHH! Fireworks Again July 4. A one-hour fireworks display will be held July 4 in Palmer Stadium, starting at 9:30. The show is the 12th in a series of such spectacles arranged by Princeton Post 76, American Legion. In case of rain, the program will be held Saturday night, July 8.

The Stadium gates will open at 7 and a pre-show entertainment consisting of vaudeville acts and rock and roll music will start at 8. At 9:30, the oohing and aahing will begin over fireworks with such names as Flash from Venus, Fiery Tarantulas, Octopus Bombshell, Firefly Wheels and Weeping Willow.

Legion chairman for the event is Henry J. Frank. Other committeemen are: Norman R. Fowler and William Haupt, refreshments; Fred H. Klink and William Parke, finance; Earl W. Marcellious, publicity; Alex Procaccino, parking and traffic; D. Don Richards, communications and entertainment; and Robert C. Schmidt, stadium operations.

News Of The THEATRES

NEW SCENERY

For McCarter. More standing room at the box-office, a lobby with more elbow-room, and a downstairs social room will be among the amenities next fall at McCarter Theatre.

The University has begun a renewal project for McCarter which has been needed for a long, long time. After it's complete, there will be a soundproof rehearsal room, conference rooms, private office space for Triangle Club and even—wonder of wonders—office space for the McCarter staff.

Ground was broken, so to speak, about ten days ago. The remodeling is expected to take two months. University spokesmen won't say how much it's going to cost, but it's permanent remodeling of the capital-improvement variety.

Theatre-goers will first notice the change when they step up to the box-office. The wall will be moved forward to accommodate two windows where there is only one now, so lines won't be so long.

More Lobby Room. The lobby will remain as is, although McCarter hopes wistfully that there will be enough money to paint over the Landlord Beige that has covered the walls for many a grimy year.

When you turn the corner and go downstairs, the change will be dramatically apparent. Here McCarter will serve those between-the-acts refreshments that have been served upstairs until now. Cider and coffee downstairs will relieve congestion in the upper lobby and make audience movement much freer everywhere.

This downstairs social area already has a pleasant stone fireplace, and the room will be furnished like a lounge, perhaps with rugs and certainly with some chairs.

Through a door and down a flight of steps from the social room will be a revitalized work area for the McCarter staff and company.

Here, for the first time, the company will have a soundproof rehearsal room. Here, for the first time, Arthur Lithgow (executive director of the theatre) will have a real, true office. Here, for the first time, the executive staff will have real offices with floor-ceiling partitions instead of the temporary half-partitions in use for many years.

The rehearsal room has all kinds of use possibilities. When actors aren't declaiming in it, the McCarter Guild may be here, holding a poetry reading. Perhaps new plays will receive their first readings here before a small audience (the room will hold 150). Teachers who visit McCarter for symposiums may gather here for sandwiches and coffee. . . .

Actually, the new rehearsal room means three separate rehearsal areas for the professional company: onstage, the new downstairs social area and the soundproof room.

Remodeling will also produce a private suite of offices for Triangle, the University undergraduate club that used to own the whole theatre. Triangle has been rather a stepchild in the McCarter building, and now it will come back into its own.

Plans for the remodeling were drawn by Hugh Hardy, the theatre architect. All the groups that use McCarter — Triangle, the professional company, amateur organizations like P. J. & B. and the Princeton Ballet Society, contributed their ideas.

THE GUN IS LOADED: The man with the aim is Mark Gushy Jr. one of the owner-stylists at Princetonian, the new hair-styling salon for men. It's a jet air gun used to firm the style. The happy customer is Marty Bratman, of Viking Furniture.

IT'S NEW To Us

MEN! ARISE!

Had a Hair-cut Lately? If your husband is the kind of man who slides into a barber's chair every two weeks (well. . . three or four. . . .) and gets the same haircut he's had since he graduated from college, stake him to a treat at Princetonian, the new hair-styling salon for men at 341 Nassau.

Princetonian is in the Bowers building at the corner of Nassau and Harrison. Drive in the Harrison Street entrance and park, free, in one of Princetonian's lots. Convenient? Well!

The shop is the proud property of two brothers, Michael Maryk and Mark Gushy Jr. (we'll explain the name difference in a minute) who learned barbering as little boys in their father's shop.

But Princetonian is not a barbershop. No, indeed: it's a hair-styling salon. Men, as Michael and Mark point out, have the same need as women for a hair style which will compliment and complement the personality, be manageable, in good condition and — let's face it — flattering.

Here's the procedure. A man makes an appointment at Princetonian for any time Tuesday through Saturday, 8:30 to 6, Thursday and Friday evenings until 8. The number is 924-7733. All work is by appointment only.

After parking in that conveniently free stall behind the Bowers building, the client enters the Bowers rear door and on the first floor, finds a serene air-conditioned establishment furnished pleasantly with dark walnut, black vinyl, burlap and white walls.

First, he gets a thorough shampoo. Then his hair is shaped with a fine Swedish-steel razor into the style he has talked over with one of the stylists. Because a complete discussion with the client is an important part of styling at Princetonian. Nobody is going to talk a man into short hair he doesn't want, a part he doesn't want, long hair he can't stand.

If he's canny, of course, he'll let the stylist call the tune. Michael and Mark are experts in controlling a stubborn cowlick, sculpturing unruly wiry hair so that it lies down flat and reduces the apparent length of a long face, adroitly arranging sparse hair so that a balding man seems to have more than he has, bringing a natural look to the line at the nape of the neck.

Using a protein styling lotion to soak into hair and head, the stylist then commands the hair by using a jet-air gun (see photo) and a controlling brush. The hair is dried into its new style and the customer is given a thorough course of study in how to take care of his hair at home — what to do with it after he's been in swimming, how to comb if after a shower and so on. Princetonian recommends another appointment within 14-21 days.

Special cases require special treatments. A little bit of unwanted grey? Princetonian will send hair samples to the Redken laboratories in California for analysis. Perhaps there is a neurelogical or dermatological reason for the baldness, perhaps it is something that can be treated by supplementary food.

If the client wants one, Princetonian will supply hair pieces, priced from $150 to $1,000. "But we don't recommend this unless everything family of singers. He extended his repertoire beyond the hearth by listening to other English singers, reading books and collecting songs.

He also organized one of the first folk clubs in England (there are now more than 400) and has, in six years, become the leader in Britain's folk-music revival.

This Friday, Mike Seeger will give a program of traditional American country music with Hazel Dickens and Alice Foster and Tracy Schwarz of the New Lost City Ramblers.

Tickets, at $1.75 per concert or $3 for the pair, are at the University Store.

GARDEN AND PRINCE

A Man Far All Seasons (held over) The film has the bearing, interest and quality to label it as something out of the ordinary. An historical dramatic conflict is recreated between a statesman-scholar of high principles and a ruling monarch, with Paul Schofield as Sir Thomas More, and Robert Shaw as a young Henry VIII. Reviewed in last week's issue. (Green Sheet rating: suitable for adults, mature youth and youth.)

PLAYHOUSE

The Absentminded Professor and The Shagy Dog (now playing.) Two light-hearted films from the Walt Disney studio, designed for family entertainment.

THE NEW STRAND

Trio and Dutchman (Thurs. thru. Sat.) "Trio is a collection of three Someset Maugham stories. 'Dutchman,' one of the most controversial films of recent years, was filmed in England with an anonymous subsidy: It deals with the now-commonly accepted theme of Negro-white relationships, but unlike most of the recent films on this subject, it does not ooze sweetness and light. The performances are truly distinguished.

The story concerns a young Negro, played by Al Freeman Jr., who is riding the New York subway late at night, minding his own business, when he spots a mini-skirted white girl (Shirley Knight) on a deserted platform. She gets into the subway car in which he is the only passenger and makes unmistakable advances. He responds at first reluctantly, and then passionately. When other people get on the car, the girl suddenly repulses him with a diatribe against Negroes. He is goaded into giving his opinion of her and of whites. The scuffle, and the ending is a surprise.

Directed by LeRoi Jones, the film was designed to discourage the pick-up of Negroes by white girls on city subway systems.

NEWTON ENTERTAINS

At Lambertville Tent. Singer-musician Wayne Newton heads the bill playing through Sunday at St. John Terrell's Music Circus in Lambertville. Joining him are the Young Americans and comic Jackie Kahane.

Mr. Newton's act features vocal renditions of standard songs and virtuoso instrumental performances. One critic called the young entertainer "another Al Jolson."

The show begins at 8:30 on weekdays, and 6 and 9:45 on Saturdays and at 8 on Sunday. Following the Newton show will be Johnny Mathis, who arrives next Tuesday to stay through the following Sunday.

IF YOU LIKE TOWN TOPICS, the best way to express your appreciation is to mention it to our advertisers.

A MAN FOR ALL SEASONS: Paul Scofield gives one of the classic performances of modern theatre in the role of the man of principle, Sir Thomas More, who battled Henry VIII. The film is held over at the Garden and the Prince Theatres.

Wrong Time

Graduation time is watch-buying time. In LaVake's the other day, a mother was discussing with a clerk the purchase of a Bulova Accutron watch, the one that hums along on batteries and keeps time with astral accuracy and no winding.

The purchase took some time — should the graduate's initials be engraved on the watch? Was this the precise model he wanted? Should it be gift-wrapped?

A sad-eyed man watched the progress of the sale from a position at the end of LaVake counter. After the clerk had explained all the Accutron virtues, written up the sales slip and disappeared into the rear of the store for some gift-wrapping, the sad-eyed man smiled wanly at the woman buying the watch.

"This has been a painful experience for me," he said to her. "I'm the Omega saleman."

else has failed," the stylists say.

The two brothers come to hair-styling from varied backgrounds, in spite of their mutual barber — father, Michael changed his name when he became an actor. He has worked in Hollywood and also on Swedish television, and he has a charming Swedish wife and son as souvenirs of his career in Sweden.

Mark majored in political science at Rutgers, specializing in labor-management relations. He was president of the local barbers' union and introduced a hair-styling program to members of the union. However, both he and his brother prefer to be called stylists rather than barbers.

The styling price, including shampoo and cut and set, is $6. A haircut shaping is $3, and that's the minimum price in the shop.

"Our goal," Michael says, "is the customer who NEVER looks as though he needed a haircut."

RHODODENDRONS

Want to Grow One? As all good Princeton gardeners know, the American Rhododendron Society, Princeton Chapter, holds a spring sale every year at the Hun School. If you went to that sale, you'll want to know more about rhododendrons and where you can buy the best ones.

The Society obliges by publishing a booklet called "The Rhododendron: What it is and How to Grow it." You may have the booklet if you send 25 cents to Princeton Chapter, ARS, Box 116, Marlboro, New Jersey, 07746.

We did a quick skim of the booklet and found out how to plant rhododendrons, what to put in the bed before you put the plant in and, most important, where to plant your plant.

The booklet starts out by describing the plant, its characteristic leaves and flowers, its relation to azaleas. You'll learn about wild azaleas and wild rhododendrons and of course, about the hybrids.

The society has prepared a list of 12 nurseries specializing in rhododendrons. The closest ones are Obals Garden est ones are Obal's Garden Indian Run Nursery on Allentown Road in Robbinsville and H. Stanford Roberts, on Yardley Road in Newtown, Pennsylvania.

PRR GIVES ASSURANCES

On Commuter Service. A special meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce last Wednesday heard assurances from the Pennsylvania Railroad that it is taking specific steps to improve its service to Princeton's commuters.

William A. Lashley, Pennsylvania vice-president for public relations, and Charles E. Ingersoll, assistant vice-president, accepted an invitation to speak before the directors, after a recent survey conducted by the Chamber showed a majority of Princeton commuters to be dissatisfied with station conditions, parking space and security.

Mr. Ingersoll outlined plans to add more parking on both sides of the tracks at Princeton Junction, which, he said, had been stimulated by results of the Chamber's survey. On the New York side, 178 new spaces will be provided, bringing the total to 434. On the Philadelphia side, the Railroad is considering adding 68 more spaces to the present 98. There is still room for an additional 105, Mr. Ingersoll added.

In regard to the stations, Mr. Ingersoll promised the Railroad would begin fixing them, and repair curbing and the pedestrian tunnel under the tracks.

The Pennsy's rolling stock will be upgraded with a gradual replacement of the old red passenger cars with new silverliners. Mr. Ingersoll reported that New Jersey's Department of Transportation has contracted to provide 35 new cars with a commitment for 80 more. The cars will not be in operation before 1968.

Mr. Lashley noted developments on the Pennsylvania's high speed trains scheduled to begin operation in the fall. A site where the Railroad tracks cross the Garden State Parkway, near the present Iselin station, has been chosen as the location for the proposed station between Trenton and Newark that would be served by high speed trains. Completion is scheduled for next spring.

The Railroad currently runs 68 trains between New York and Washington. Mr. Lashley said, and this number would be increased to 96 when the high speed service starts, with trains running every hour from early morning to around midnight. New York-to-Philadelphia trains will operate every half hour.

All this activity will not directly benefit the Princeton commuter on his regular trips to New York or Philadelphia, but Mr. Ingersoll commented that additional trains would probably be added to the Princeton timetable, after the high speed trains begin running.

Finally, the old PJ & B appears safe for several more years. Mr. Ingersoll said he knew of no plans by the Railroad to make any changes in the shuttle run.

THE FOCAL POINT

HARRIS

Your living room should be built around a "focal point," as the decorators like to call it.

In plain language, this means the room should be built around some very outstanding piece or group of furniture, or some "center of interest," but there should not be more than one focal point.

Your focal point may be an eye-catching mural on a wall (and the colors of this mural could be picked up and used throughout the remainder of the room).

Or, it could be an entire wall grouping of pictures or paintings but two large walls of pictures would be pointless.

A focal point could be an unusual cocktail table, a sofa and chair grouping, a brightly colored large plant, (real or artificial) or a gold carved framed mirror to name just a few.

The important thing to remember is that the focal point must be sufficiently outstanding and attractive to use as the center of interest.

If you'd like some ideas for your living room, come in and talk it over with us There is no obligation.

PLANS FOR HIGH SCHOOL DROPOUTS: George L. Petrillo, guidance counselor at Princeton High School, Mrs. George H. Freemon (center), president of the Regional School Board, and Mrs. Robert V. Dilley, chairman of the Princeton Adult School, discuss plans for a high school equivalency diploma program to be given by the Adult School in cooperation with the regional board. Mr. Petrillo will be in charge.

Topics Of The Town

CLASSES TO BE OFFERED

For Equivalency Diploma. The Princeton Adult School in cooperation with the Princeton Regional School Board will offer four classes in the fall and winter terms leading to a high school equivalency diploma.

Those wishing to finish the work in one year can take two courses in the fall and two in the winter. The four areas covered include English, mathematics, science and social studies. The program is sponsored and examinations are given by the New Jersey State Department of Education. Mr. George L. Petrillo, guidance counselor at Princeton High School will be in charge.

Mr. Petrillo originated the idea of the equivalency diploma courses in a letter to the regional board. In it he stated that 59% of New Jersey's adult population has never graduated from high school, and there have been more than 300 high school dropouts alone, in the Princeton area over the last ten years.

The program signifies a new direction for the Adult School, which for the last 30 years has provided a variety of courses to area residents for personal enjoyment, acquiring new skills, cultural enrichments etc. This is the first time that classes will be given with the specific aim of obtaining a diploma upon completion of the work.

The courses are open to all New Jersey residents. Those interested should contact Mr. Petrillo at the high school or write to the Princeton Adult School, P. O. Box 701, Princeton.

TEACHER HONORED

By Former Kindergarteners. Five years ago Miss Marion Forsythe, kindergarten teacher at Littlebrook School, was unable to finish the school year because of illness. She never returned and has since retired. Her last class of kindergarteners did not forget her, however, and last week they held a party in her honor.

The children — now in fifth grade at Littlebrook — presented a program around the theme "Do You Remember" for Miss Forsythe. They also donated two books to the library in her name.

chairmen were Mrs. Kellond, bridge tourneys, Mrs. Ballinger, dessert card party and Mrs. Mesner, fashion show luncheon.

OFFICERS INTRODUCED

By Dogwood Garden Club. Officers of the Dogwood Garden Club for the coming year were introduced to the members at the club's June luncheon at the Present Day Club.

They are Mrs. John Houghton, president; Mrs. William Aiken, first vice-president; Mrs. Sherwood Skillman, second vice-president; Mrs. Gerald Lockyer, recording secretary; Mrs. William Halstead, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Donald Thiel, treasurer.

A brief business meeting also was held. Mrs. Carl Sjostrom was in charge of the luncheon.

FEELS PRIESTS SHOULD HAVE OPTION TO MARRY: Campus policeman William Horn, a Presbyterian, feels that priests should be allowed to marry. But, he adds, perhaps Catholics have a different outlook.

Question of the Week

Question: Should Catholic priests be allowed to marry?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

William Horn, Lawrence Township, campus policeman: I'm a Presbyterian and maybe Catholics don't think the way I do — they may have a different outlook. I look at it from a man's standpoint and I feel they should have the option to marry. I don't see why this should be denied them.

Mrs. Michelle Hawks, Marshall Street, legal secretary: Yes, I think so. A great deal of a priest's mission is to give guidance to family life and family problems. If they had first-hand knowledge about this they would be better equipped to give advice.

Chris Blaicher, 10 Boudinot Street, student, Northeastern College, Boston: I believe so. I believe it broadens their horizons, really. They would be able to speak truthfully from knowledge about marriage and the like.

Mrs. Charles Young, 127 Wilson Road, housewife: Yes, because I think that's the natural way of life.

Michael O'Kane, Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction, contruction worker: I think so—but it can lead to a problem if carried to excess. If you follow history there were a lot of things wrong with the Catholic Church—priests were giving offices to their children which is one reason, I believe, the rule of celibacy was instituted. However, I don't think that would happen today. In keeping with the trend of the Church in trying to modernize itself, I think this would be a big step in the right direction.

Miss Pat Brown, Trenton, bookkeeper, Princeton Hospital: I think they should, yes. I also feel, by the same token, if priests are allowed to marry, that nuns should be given the same privilege. I don't see any particular advantage or disadvantage, I just think it should be the same as other religions. Pastors and rabbis are allowed to marry.

Kenneth Brewer, 15 University Place, foreign visitor doing research work at Princeton University: The argument for celibacy is, principally, that priests have more time to tend to pressing matters and partoral care. I think there is a need for some married clergy so they can deal with pastoral problems involving married people.

Mark Bancroft, 28 Fisher Avenue, Princeton High School junior: I think so, yes. Christ doesn't say anywhere in the Bible that you can't be married, so I don't see why priests can't get married. They're human, too.

Lloyd Williams, Portland, Ore., math teacher, here to read college board exams: Sure. It's up to him. If he wants to get married, why shouldn't he be allowed to?

What Do The Priests Say?

The results of a poll of Catholic priests in New Jersey, New York and Connecticut reveal that a majority — a slim majority — do not favor a change in the Church's law of celibacy.

In answer to "Do you favor a change to optional celibacy for the diocesan clergy?" 1,331 replied yes; 1,413 said no, and 80 had no opinion. Of priests who replied from the Trenton Diocese, 55.1 said yes; 41.9, no; and 3.0 had no opinion. An overall finding and a breakdown of the Trenton Diocese indicate that a change to optional celibacy is strongly favored by young priests.

The poll was conducted by the Metropolitan Coordinating Committee of the National Association for Pastoral Renewal, a group formed last November to work toward a modification of the celibacy law. Of the 7,950 priests polled, 2,905, or 36.5 percent, responded.

Mrs. Robert Cyphers, King George Road, Pennington, housewife: Yes, I think it's important that a priest be able to marry if he wants to and raise a family. I'm a Protestant and perhaps I look at it through Protestant eyes but I think they should have that privilege.

Miss Maria Bonafede, Trenton, secretary, Woodrow Wilson Foundation: In a way, I feel sorry for them. It would be good in some ways and bad in others. I feel one bad point is they wouldn't be as dedicated as they are now. They give all this up to become a priest. But I also feel they should be able to have children and share what other people experience. I think they would be able to give better advice. Priests are just like bachelors: some think they should get married and some think they shouldn't.

Mrs. Betty Clausen, Kendall Park, employee, ETS: I think so, yes. I think they would understand marital problems better if they did.

Bill Barry, Trenton, student at Rider College: We've been discussing this and I think it will happen; it will come to this. Personally, I think it's a good thing. He would better understand problems people have. If he is to guide people on how to lead a Christian life he should also be directly aware of the problems faced in married life. Right now, all a priest has is his education in theology and philosophy. His practical training has to come through his work in his Parish.

Miss Jane Bastedo, Kendall, Park, clerk typist, Firestone Library: Yes I, don't see why not. I think it is his business. Of course, if he becomes a priest he knows beforehand he's not allowed to marry.

CREW FINISHES FOURTH

At Syracuse. Taking fourth in both the varsity and freshman races, Princeton's heavyweight crews finished in a tie for fourth with Washington in the combined standings at the Intercollegiate Rowing Association regatta Saturday at Syracuse.

A tenth place finish by the jayvee boat netted the Tigers' eight points for the day. Penn, which won the varsity race for the first time since 1900, finished first with 19 points. Wisconsin was second with 13 and Navy third with 11.

In the varsity race, the Tiger shell stayed in close pursuit up to the one-mile mark of the three-mile race. It was timed in 16:32, four seconds behind third-place Cornell and 19 behind Penn.

In the cub event, Princeton held the lead briefly, but Penn wrapped up first place with a closing burst of power a quarter-mile from the finish line. The Tigers' tie for fourth overall was a notch lower than last year, when the varsity was third and the freshmen second, but a good showing nonetheless.

A heavy rain squall hit midway through the junior varsity race, and probably cost the Quakers a chance for a sweep of the three races. Leading by a length at the time, the Penn shell came almost to halt when the rain hit, enabling Navy to shoot into a lead it never relinquished.

Dutch Schoch, former Princeton coach, said the storm was one of the severest he had seen since the regatta's earliest days at Poughkeepsie.

AWARDS PRESENTED

To Jaycee Tennis Winners. An awards ceremony was held Friday at the Community Park Courts for the winners of the Junior Tennis Week sponsored by the Princeton Jaycees.

John Conroy, Princeton University tennis coach, presented awards to the winner, runner-up and consolation winner in three age divisions for boys and girls. The winner, runner-up and consolation winner in the boys 16 and under division were, Billy Liederman, Freddie Erdman and Dickie Kendall.

CYANAMID ON TOP

In Business Softball. American Cyanamid was beaten, 7-2 by ETS in the only game it played last week, but still moved into first place in the eastern division of the Business Softball League, when front-running RCA Astro dropped a pair of contests. Columbian Carbon continued its mastery in the western division, adding two more victories to its win streak.

A five-run sixth inning turned a close game into an easy victory for ETS over Cyanamid. Willie Turner and George Barton cracked home runs for the winners, and Jack Dilworth got credit for the win.

Heavy hitting by Joe Simone, John Spinka and Ang Vasti powered McGraw-Hill to a 7-5 triumph over the Astros, ending their winning streak at five. Bob LoPresto got credit for the victory. In their second game, the Astros ran up against Columbian Carbon, and lost 11-6.

Carbon's other triumph came at the expense of EMR, 11-2. John Klos and Jack Sheldon each hit a brace of four baggers, and Joe Schimek and Alex Golembeski collected one homer. Ed Ward bested Lee Buchanan for the decision.

A 16-4 triumph over Accelerator lifted RCA B to third place in the eastern division behind Astro and Cyanamid. Tom Connelly went four for four, Ron Beimetech blasted a grand slam and a triple, and Bill Procaccino had three for four including a home run for the winners.

Later in the week, RCA B shutout ETS, 11-0,banging out 18 hits in the process. Joe Wiacek had the game's only four bagger.

RCA A remainded in contention for the western division title with a 12-1 victory over ERC. Max Hopkins won his fifth game against two defeats and collected two hits. Ed Lopatin and Walt Hicinbothem had three hits in four trips.

In other games, Opinion Research lost a pair of contests, 24-18 to WTS Pharmacraft, and 9-0 to the Telephone Workers. Jim Harden and Glen Yates homered for the Telephone Workers. Notching their second win of the week, the Workers bested FMC, 8-4, with Dave Exner slamming a pair of round trippers. NCA dropped Hopewell TV, 14-8, and ERC crushed WTS, 27-5.

TWO NEW FOES ADDED

To Hun Football Schedule. The Hun School football team will play eight opponents next fall — the same number as last year — but two of them will be new.

In a schedule released by athletic director Hawley Waterman, who also serves as head football coach, the Johnny Huns will lead off with Princeton Day School on September 29. This marks the first time the two schools will meet on the gridiron on a varsity level and it should prove to be the inaugural of a keen rivalry.

THANK YOU, MR. SPIEGEL: Jaan Raamot (left), chairman of the Tennis Committee of the Princeton Jaycees, accepts a check for $50 to help cover costs of the Tennis Week Tournament from Steve Spiegle, owner of the Varsity Sport Shop, 124 Nassau Street. Between them is Shawn Tulley, 45 Wiggins Street, well-known Princeton tennis player and a student at Princeton University, who directed the tournament.

The second newcomer is Bryn Athyn. Dropped are two non-members of the Penn-Jersey League — Admiral Farragut and Pingry.

The 1967 schedule: Sept. 29, Princeton Day School; Oct. 7, Perkiomen; 13, Germantown Friends; 21, Solebury; 27, Friends Central; Nov. 3, Bryn Athyn; 11, George School; 18, Pennington. With the exception of PDS, all are Penn-Jersey schools.

THORNE'S TIES FOR LEAD

In West Windsor League. Thorne's Pharmacy won both its games last week, while the First National Bank split its pair and moved into a tie for first with the Bank in the West Windsor Little League.

Denny Clark limited Edinburg Hotel to seven hits in pitching Thorne's to a 2-1 victory. Mark Dalton and John Cross got the key hits for Thorne's.

Against the Lions Club, Thorne's took advantage of 18 walks to score a 20-6 win. Terry Tucker and Denny Clark led the Thorne's attack, while Tom Sherlock, Bill Mooney, Bernie Shanield and Joe Sodomin hit well for the Lions.

Craft Cleaners started the week with an 8-1 triumph over the Bank, but lost its second game to the Edinburg Hotel, 9-1. Larry Martz got credit for the Cleaners' victory, aided by Ron Tindall's alert defensive play in the final inning that snuffed out a rally by the Bank. Ron, along with Rick Probasco and Mike Holcombe paced the Cleaners' hitting.

A fine one-hit pitching effort by Mike Carlucci and hitting

DAVIS RECEIVES AWARD

From Harvard. Dave Davis, a former Princeton resident and graduate of Princeton Country Day, has received the Jack Fadden Award from Harvard University.

The award is presented annually to that athlete who has overcome physical adversity to go on and make an important contribution to his team. Davis, a three-year letterman in football, who has signed with the Boston Patriots, played six games last fall with a broken vertebrae in his left side.

He was in considerable pain, but was told by doctors that he could not do further damage to himself by playing, so he asked to remain in the line up. "He did an amazing job for us," Harvard's football coach John Yovicsin reports. "Dave always gave his utmost. He was one of the key men in our successful season."

Davis completed the year at defensive tackle and won coaches' All-Ivy recognition in football. The 6-3, 235 pound senior also lettered in lacrosse for three years, captaining the team this spring. He was named to the second all Ivy team as a defenseman.

SECOND HALF BEGINS

In Girls' Softball League. The second half of the Princeton Research Girls' Softball League was scheduled for this Wednesday evening, with RCAnamid opposing Opinion Research Corporation at Cyanamid's field, and Princeton Hospital meeting Educational Testing Service at ETS.

Originally, there were six teams in the league: McGraw Hill, Hospital, ORC, ETS, RCA and American Cyanamid. However, the last two teams combined into one — RCAnamid — to overcome a shortage of players on each squad.

The first half ended with ETS on top with a 4-1 record. Hospital was 2-1, McGraw Hill, 2-2, RCAnamid, 2-3, and ORC, 1-4.

Games are played on Wednesdays with makeup contests scheduled for Monday. Game time is 6 p.m. and spectators are always welcome.

This is the league's third year. Kay Allen of RCA Labs is again serving as secretary-treasurer.

WATKINS RACE AIRED

By WhWh. Live coverage of the Watkins Glen Duel of Champions race this Sunday will be presented, starting at 3:15, over WhWh, 1350 and WTOA, 97.5 FM.

Among the top drivers expected to compete are defending champions Bluk Fulp, series title-holder Chuck Parsons, and Lothar Motschenbacher, George Follmer, Skip Scott, Bob Johnson and Mark Donahue. The 200-mile race is considered a mid-season classic of the U. S. road racing championships.

The Mercer County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs is sponsoring the event in conjuction with the Mercer County Park Commission. Ray Walters is acting chairman of the contest.

THREE TIED FOR FIRST

In Babe Ruth League. After one week of play, Lions, McKenzie Realty and Will's Shell are tied for first place in the West Windsor Babe Ruth League. Each is 2-1.

Jeff Haring pitched the Lions to their two triumphs. He limited Lucar Hardware to one hit in winning, 7-0, and allowed only three hits in a 9-1 victory over Will's. He struck out 32 batters in both games, 18 against Lucar.

Haring was backed by the hitting of Tony Depiano, Rod Caldwell, Ricky Rogers, John Drummond, Fred Taft and Doug Haring.

Dave Davis

Joe Cimerola pitched and batted MacKenzie to a 5-2 verdict over the Lions. Joe went three - for - three, including a two-run triple. Rick Boykin chipped in with a double and single.

MacKenzie then picked on winless Lucar for its second triumph as David Fry scattered five hits to win, 9-1. Cimerola again had a perfect day at the plate, going four-for-four, while J. B. Wright had two hits in two appearances.

In a tight pitcher's duel, Joe Cavanaugh of Will's bested MacKenzie's Cimerola, 2-1. Jeff Wetterling emerged as the game's hero, driving in both Will's runs in the last inning.

Cavanaugh came back with another fine mound performance against Lucar, which fell, 8-0. Wetterling and Ricky Morgan, who clouted a two-run triple, paced the Will's attack.
